ABSTRACT

A system and method for management of participants within an education-based cultural exchange program, wherein the system and method provide for a multiplicity of participants to share cultural-related information and other information not specifically related to the cultural distinctions of a respective participant within a phased program, the phases including at least acclimation, teaching, and sharing phases, and the program further providing for self-administration of administrative matters, tracking participants and information within the program framework and timeframe, and auditing the program.